The Funeral Service

You may wish to have a church or chapel service before the cremation or burial, or only a service at the crematorium or cemetery chapel. Alternatively, it is possible to have a committal only at the crematorium or cemetery which can be followed by a memorial or thanksgiving service if required.

Some funeral plans do not include the funeral director's charges for attending a church service, nor the cost of heating, organist etc. In this case, there may be some additional costs at the time of the funeral.

You do not have to have a religious service. You may wish to have a humanist funeral, or a personal family ceremony with music and special readings.
